Hello! We're from Ukraine 🇺🇦

But don't worry, we are all in the safe regions of our country. With the start of hostilities, we decided not to stop working and continue rocking, paying salaries and taxes, and helping the army. We are convinced that Ukraine will win and be an independent and prosperous country. We are thankful to the whole civilized world for its help. That is why it is vital now to work on this common goal.

That's why we are looking for new projects, not taxis!

From Ukraine 🇺🇦 With love ❤️

The client

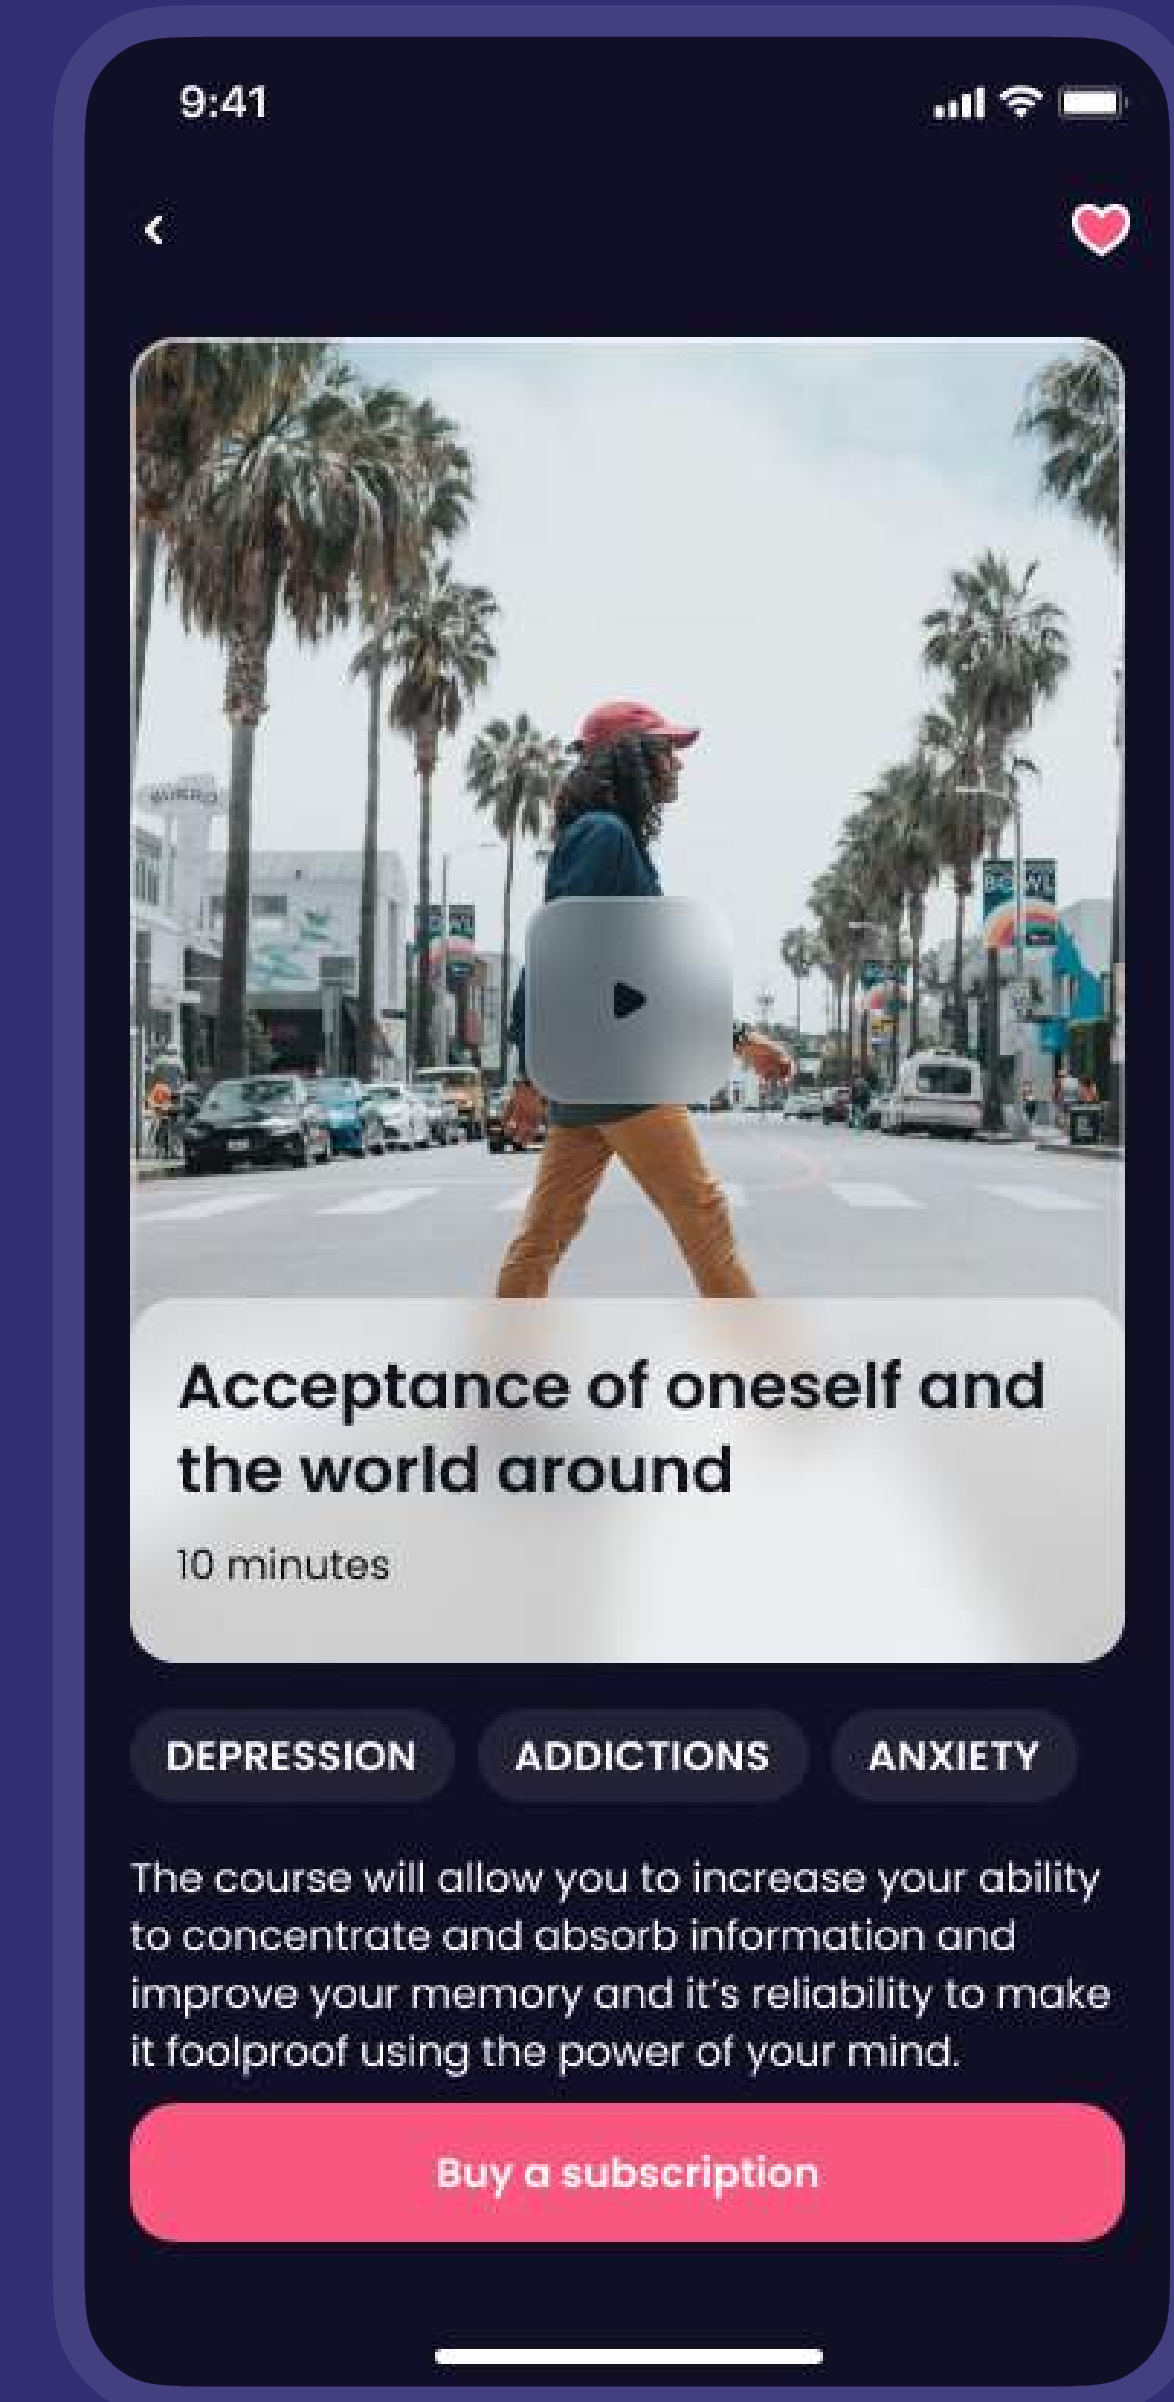

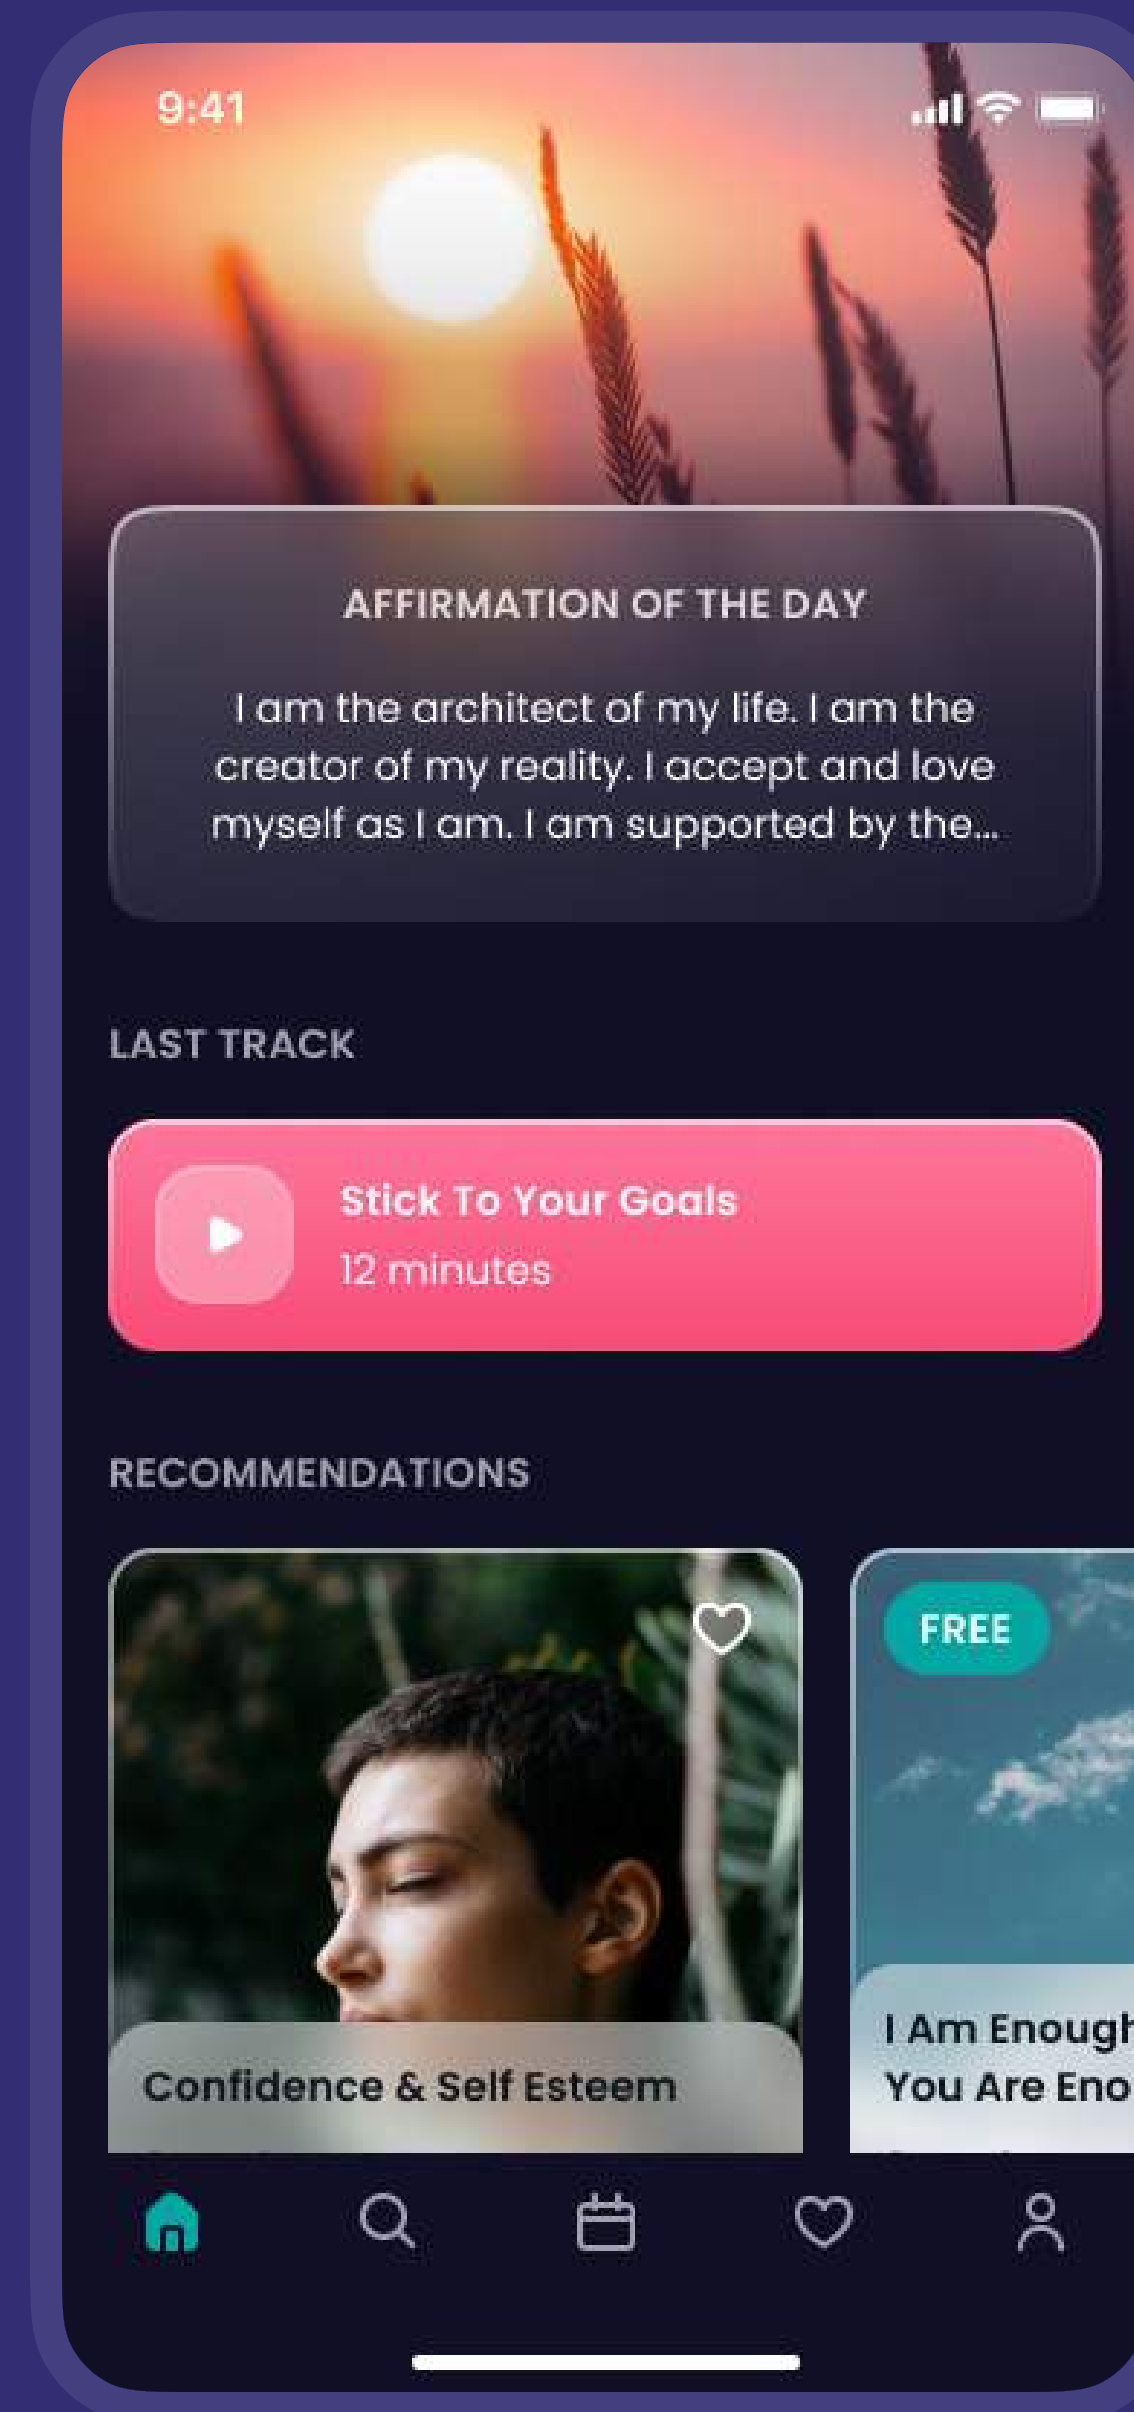

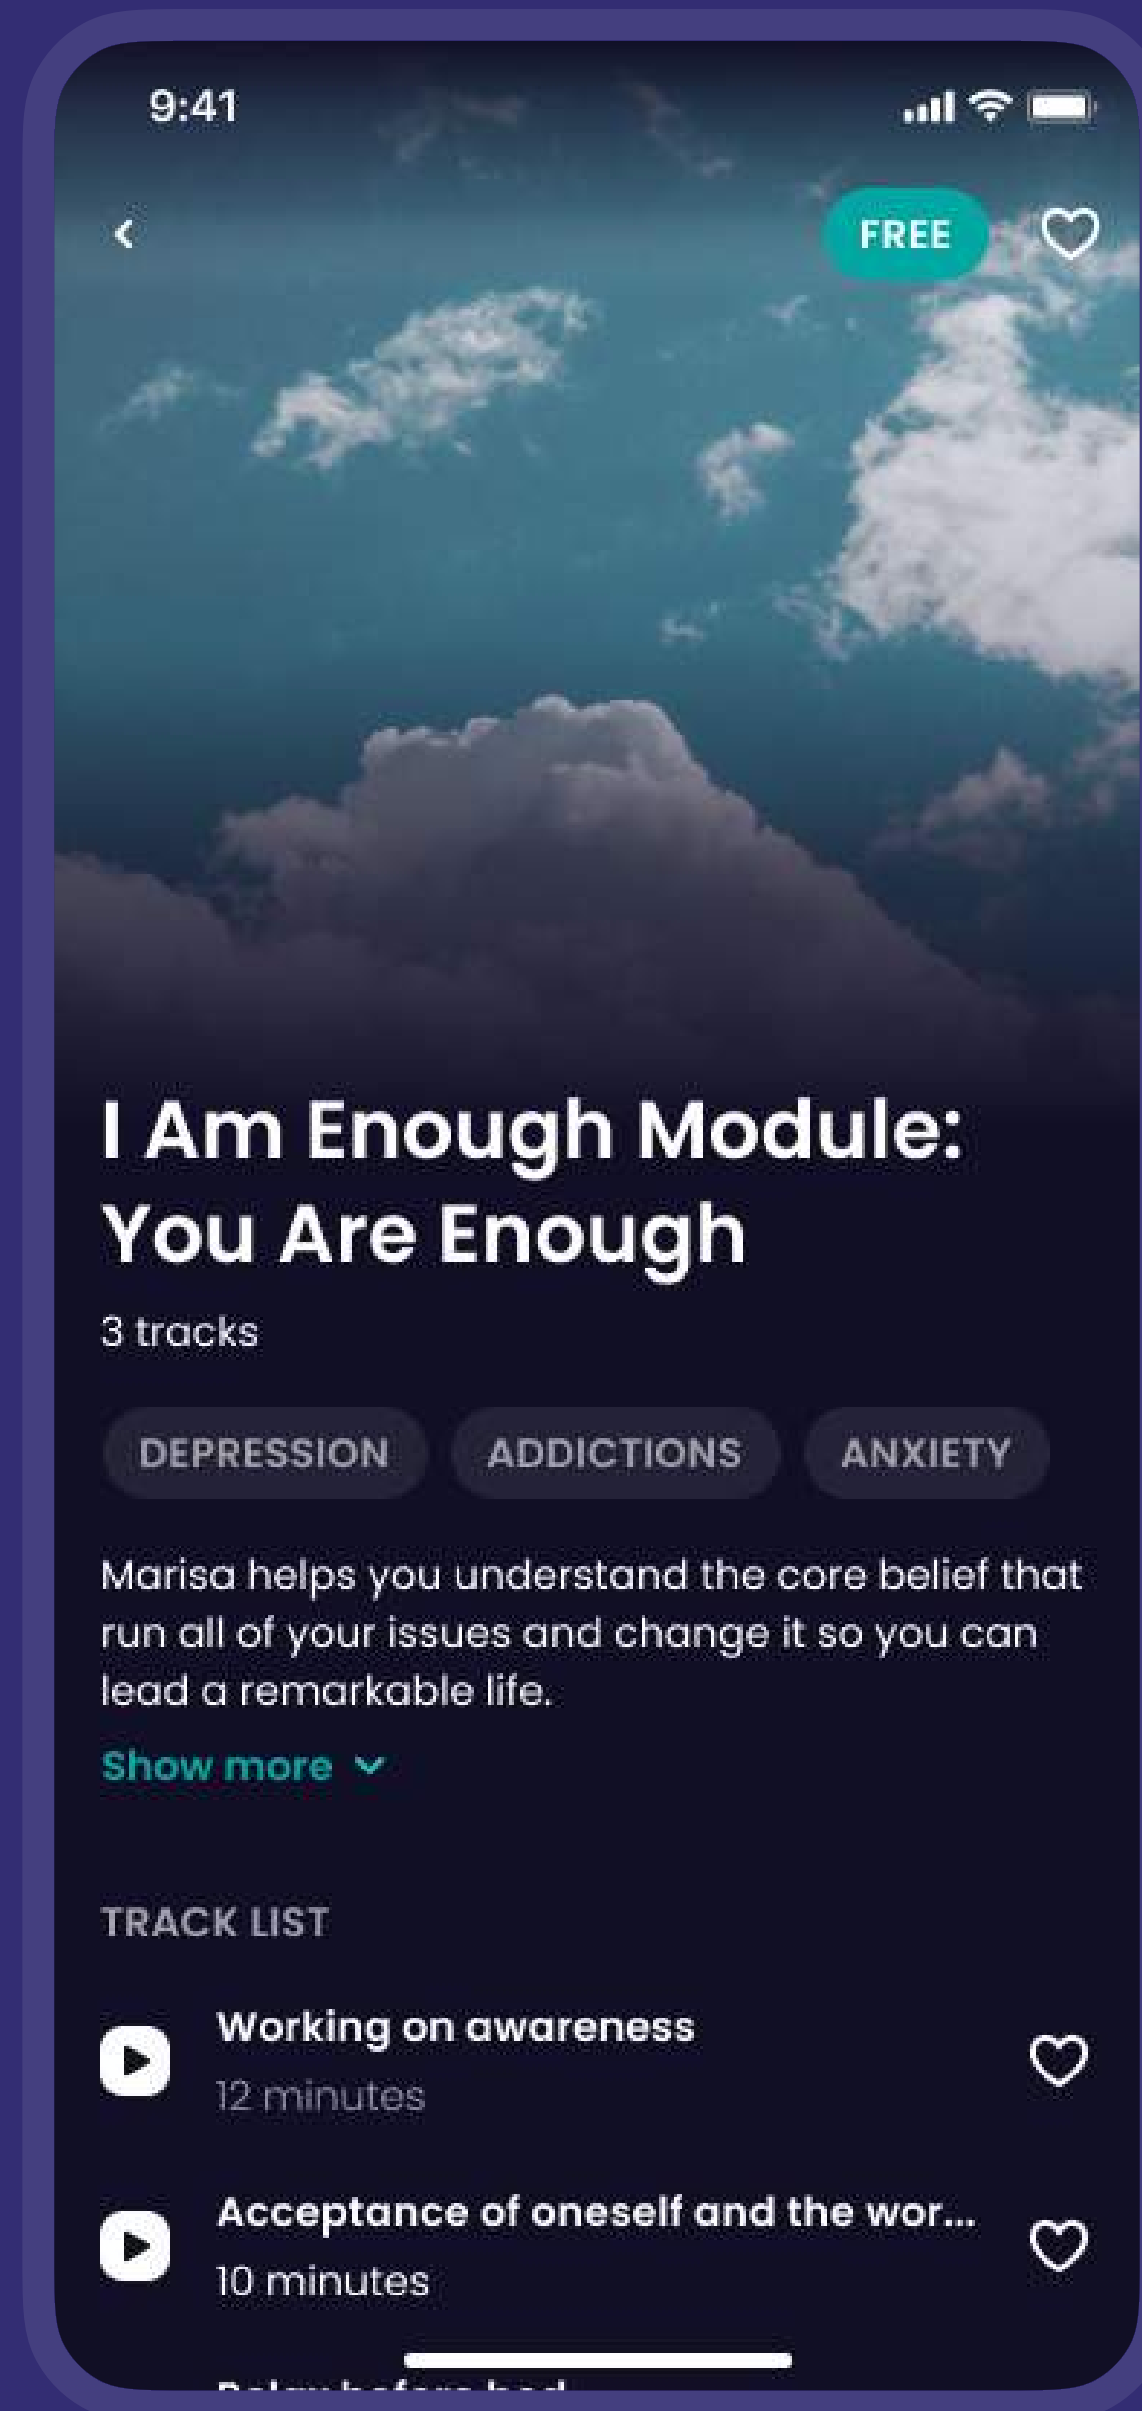

Marisa Peer is a globally acclaimed therapist, best-selling author, and award-winning speaker. She provides a wide range of services, including deep hypnotherapy and meditation lessons.

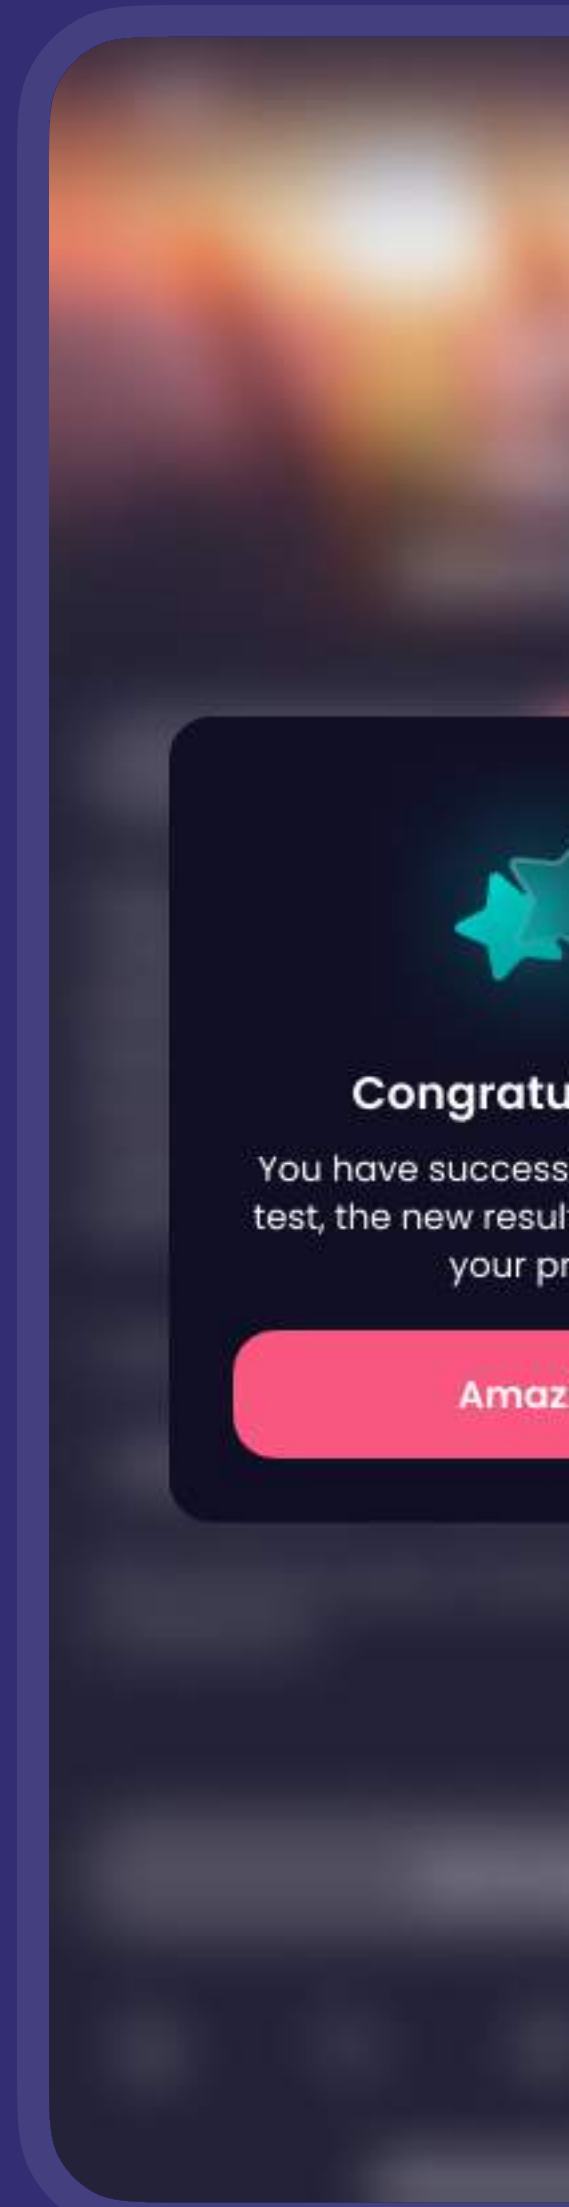

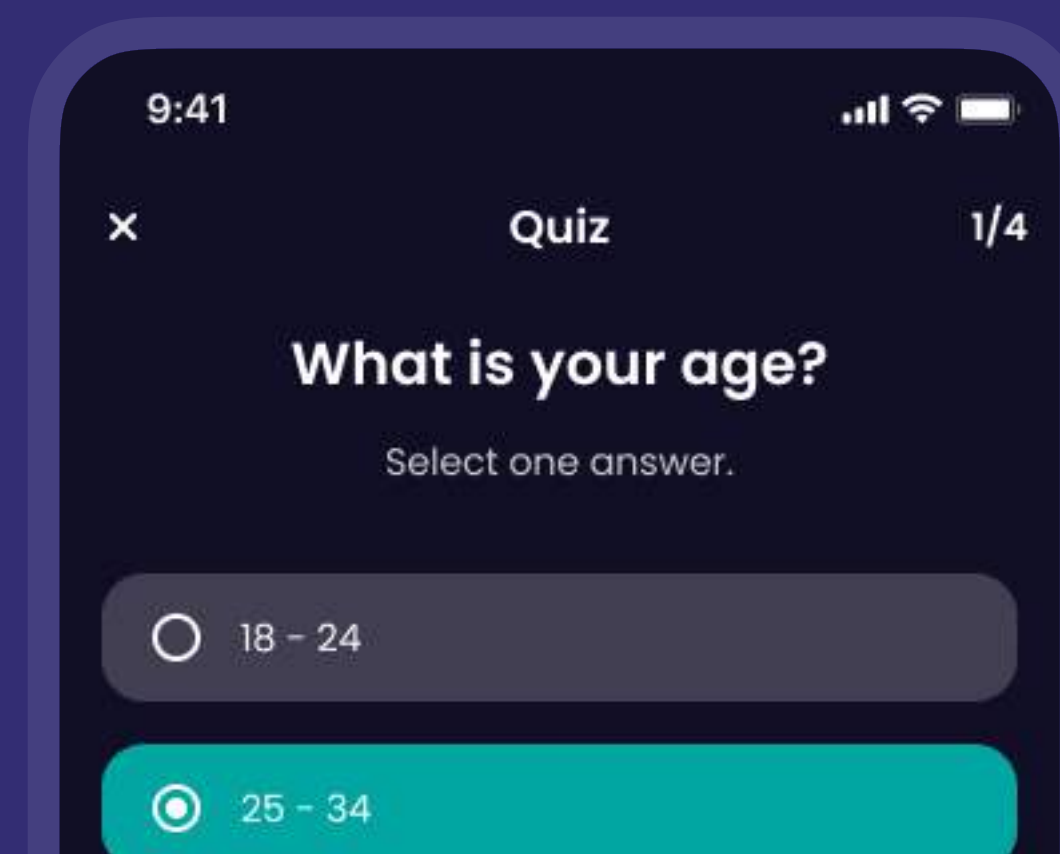

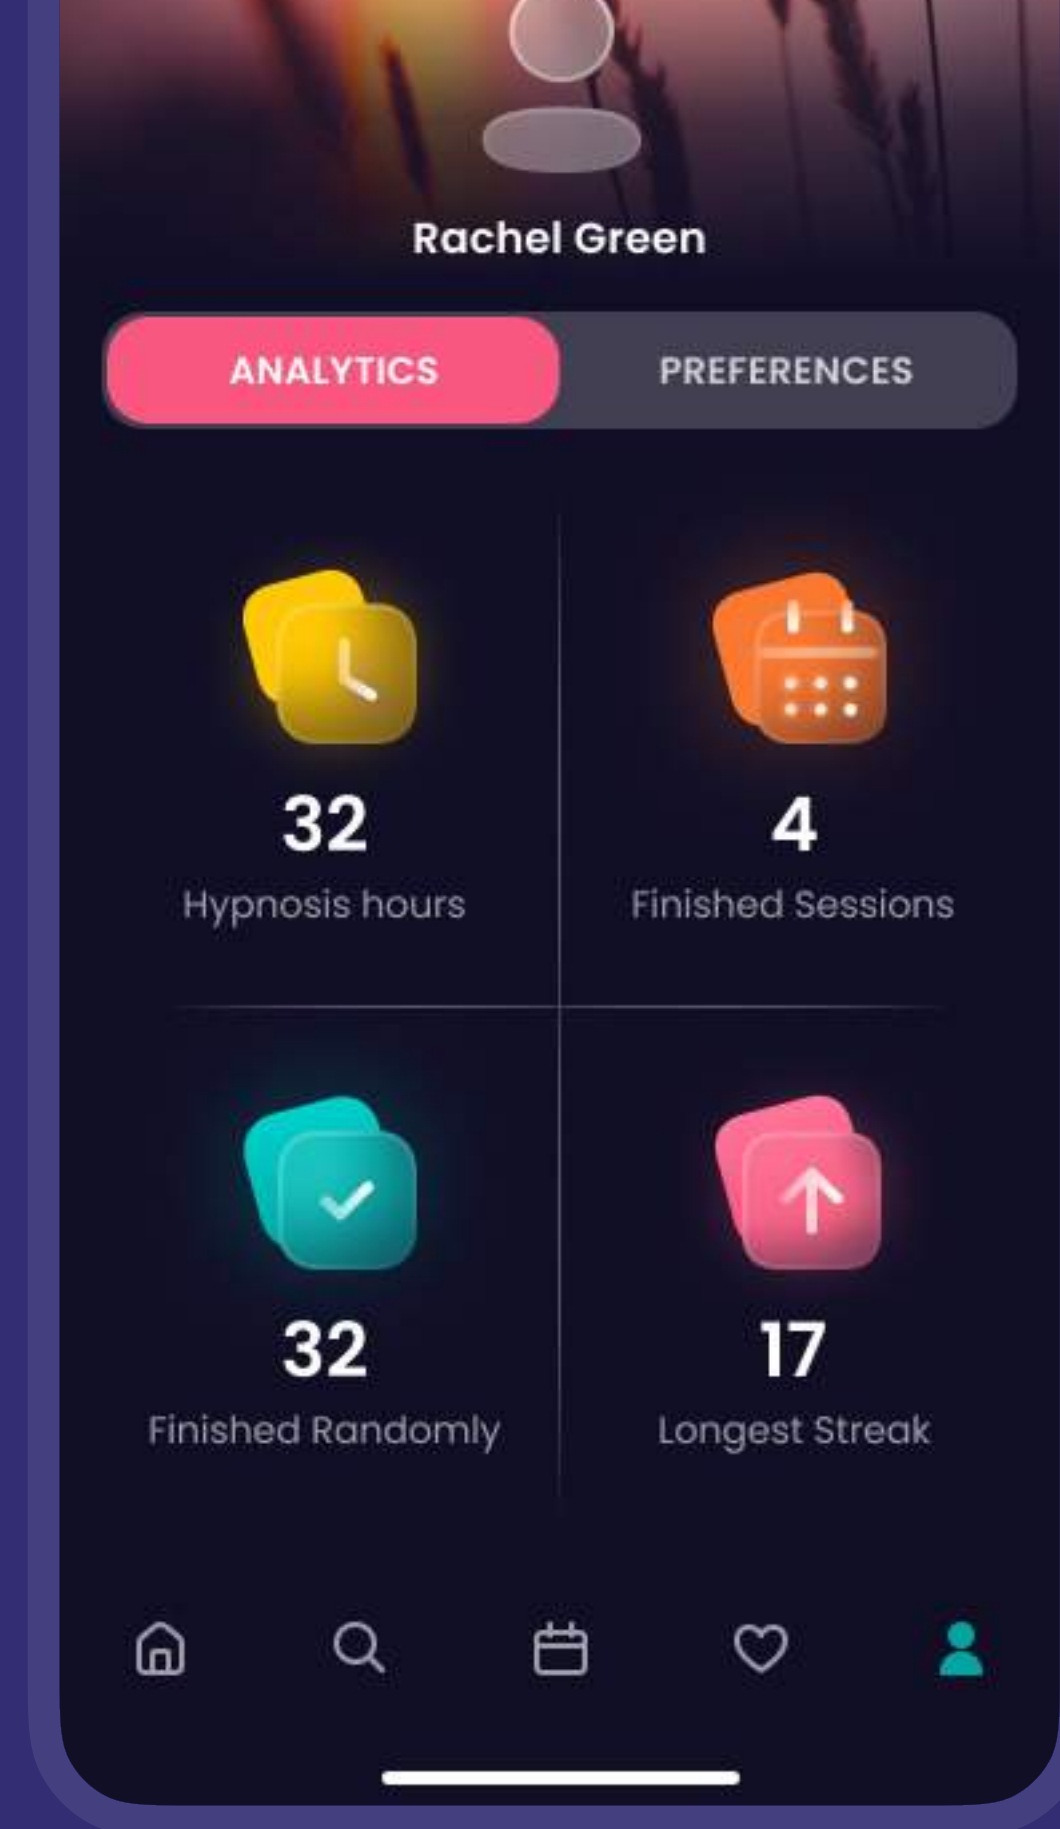

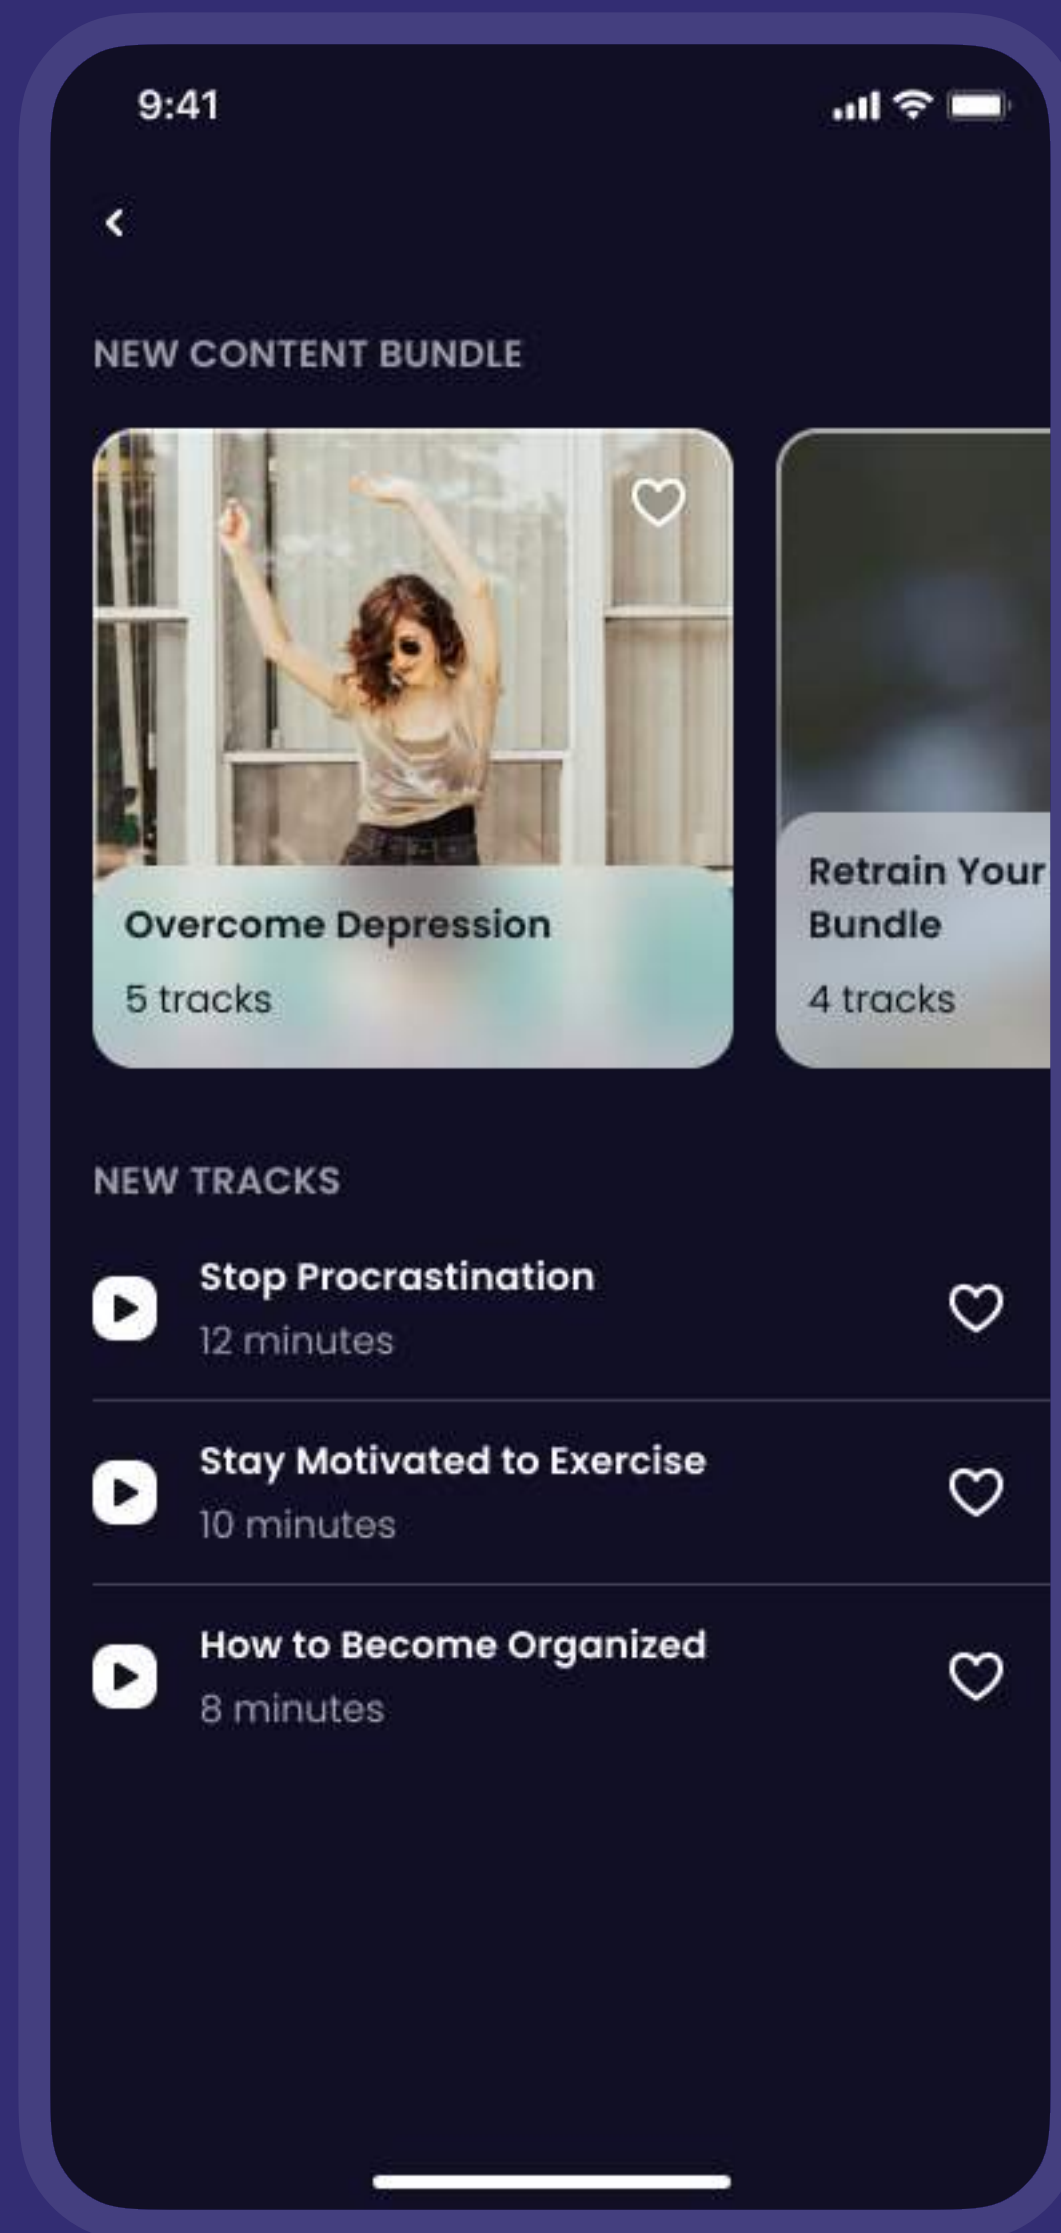

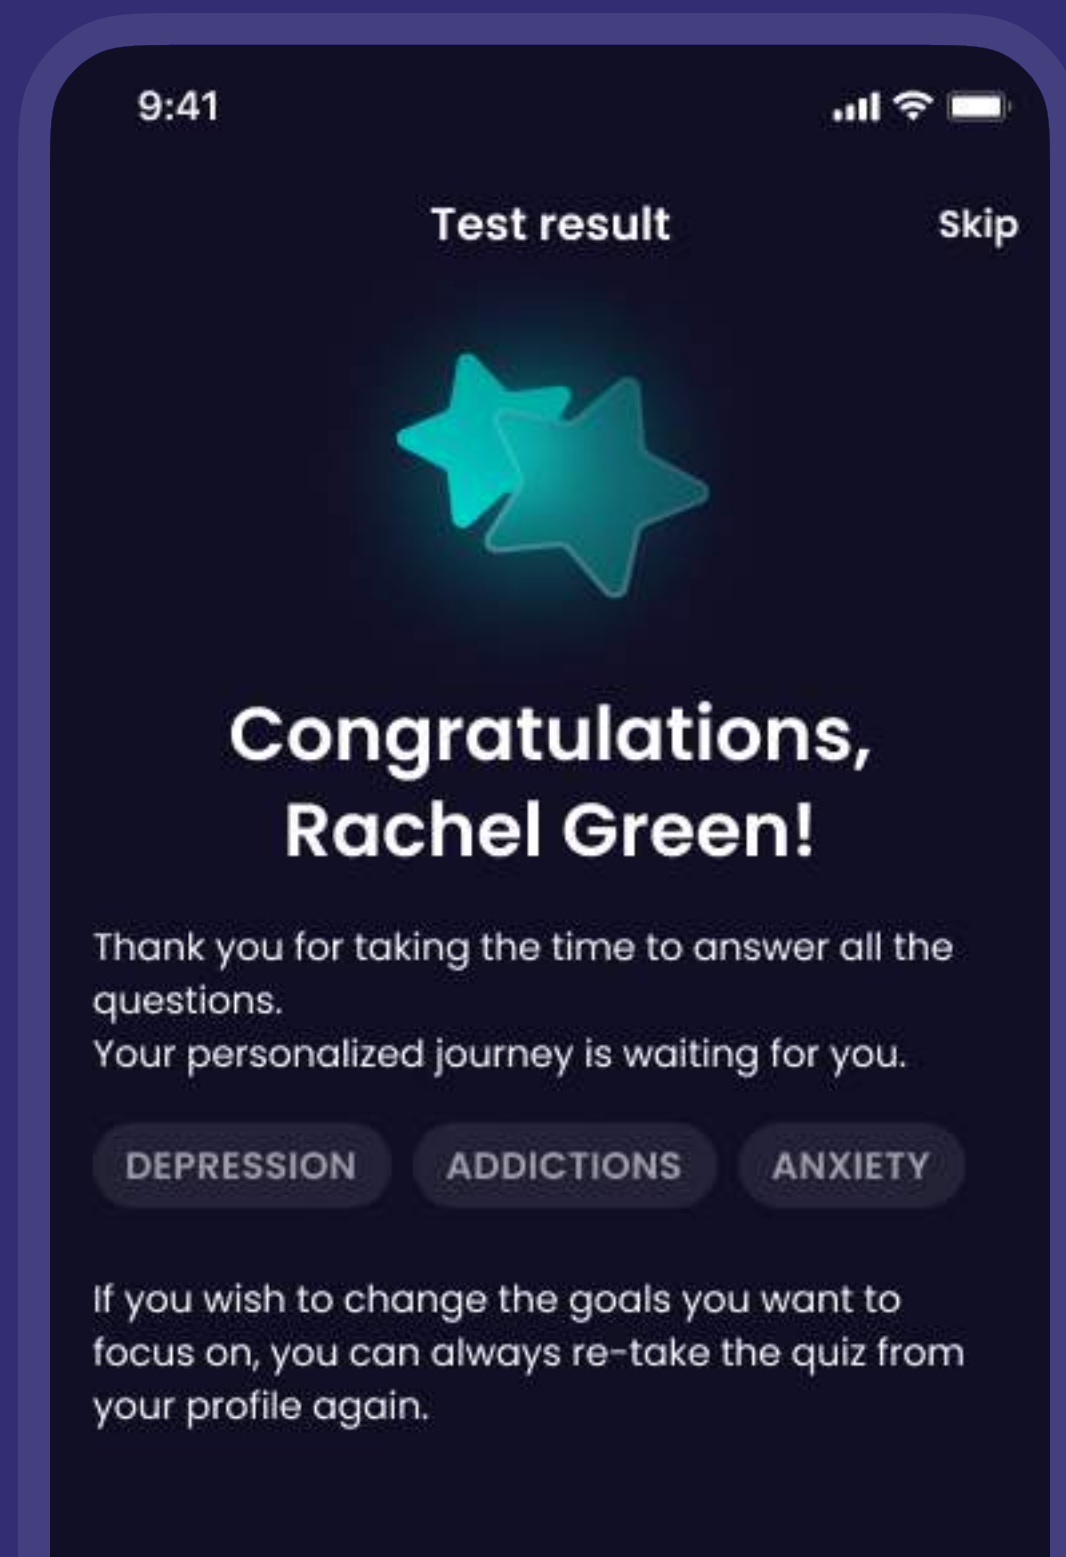

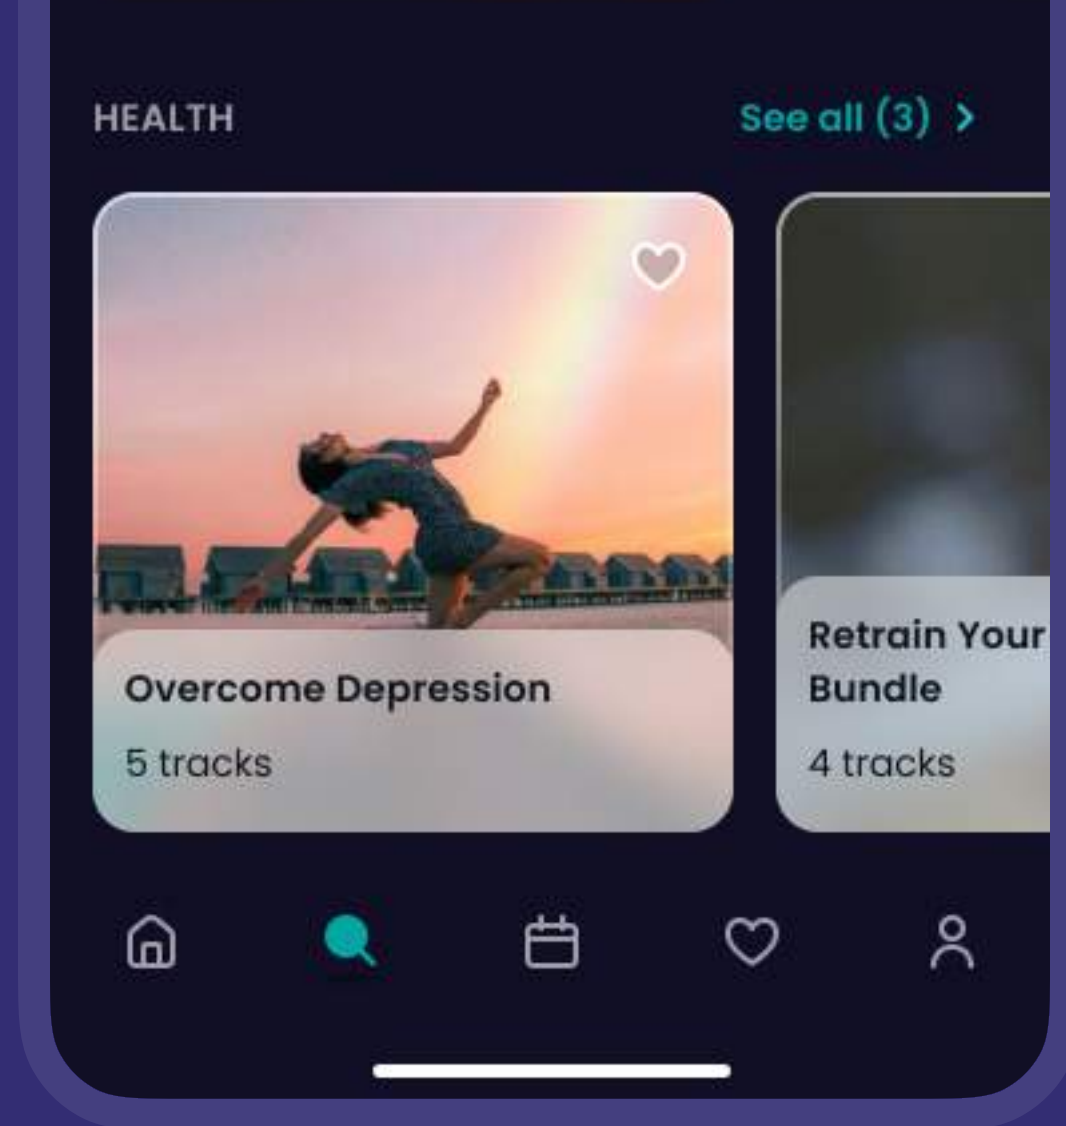

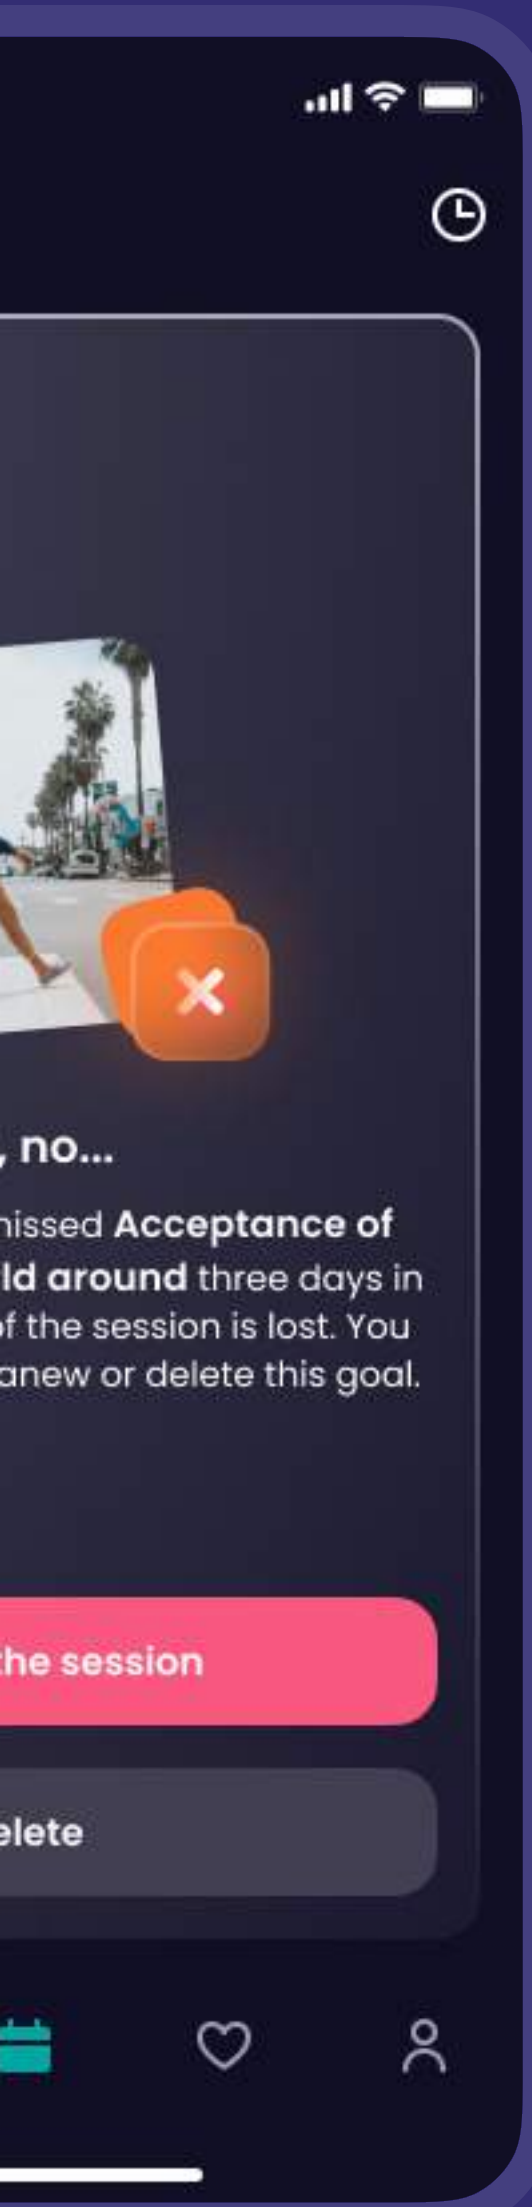

The problem

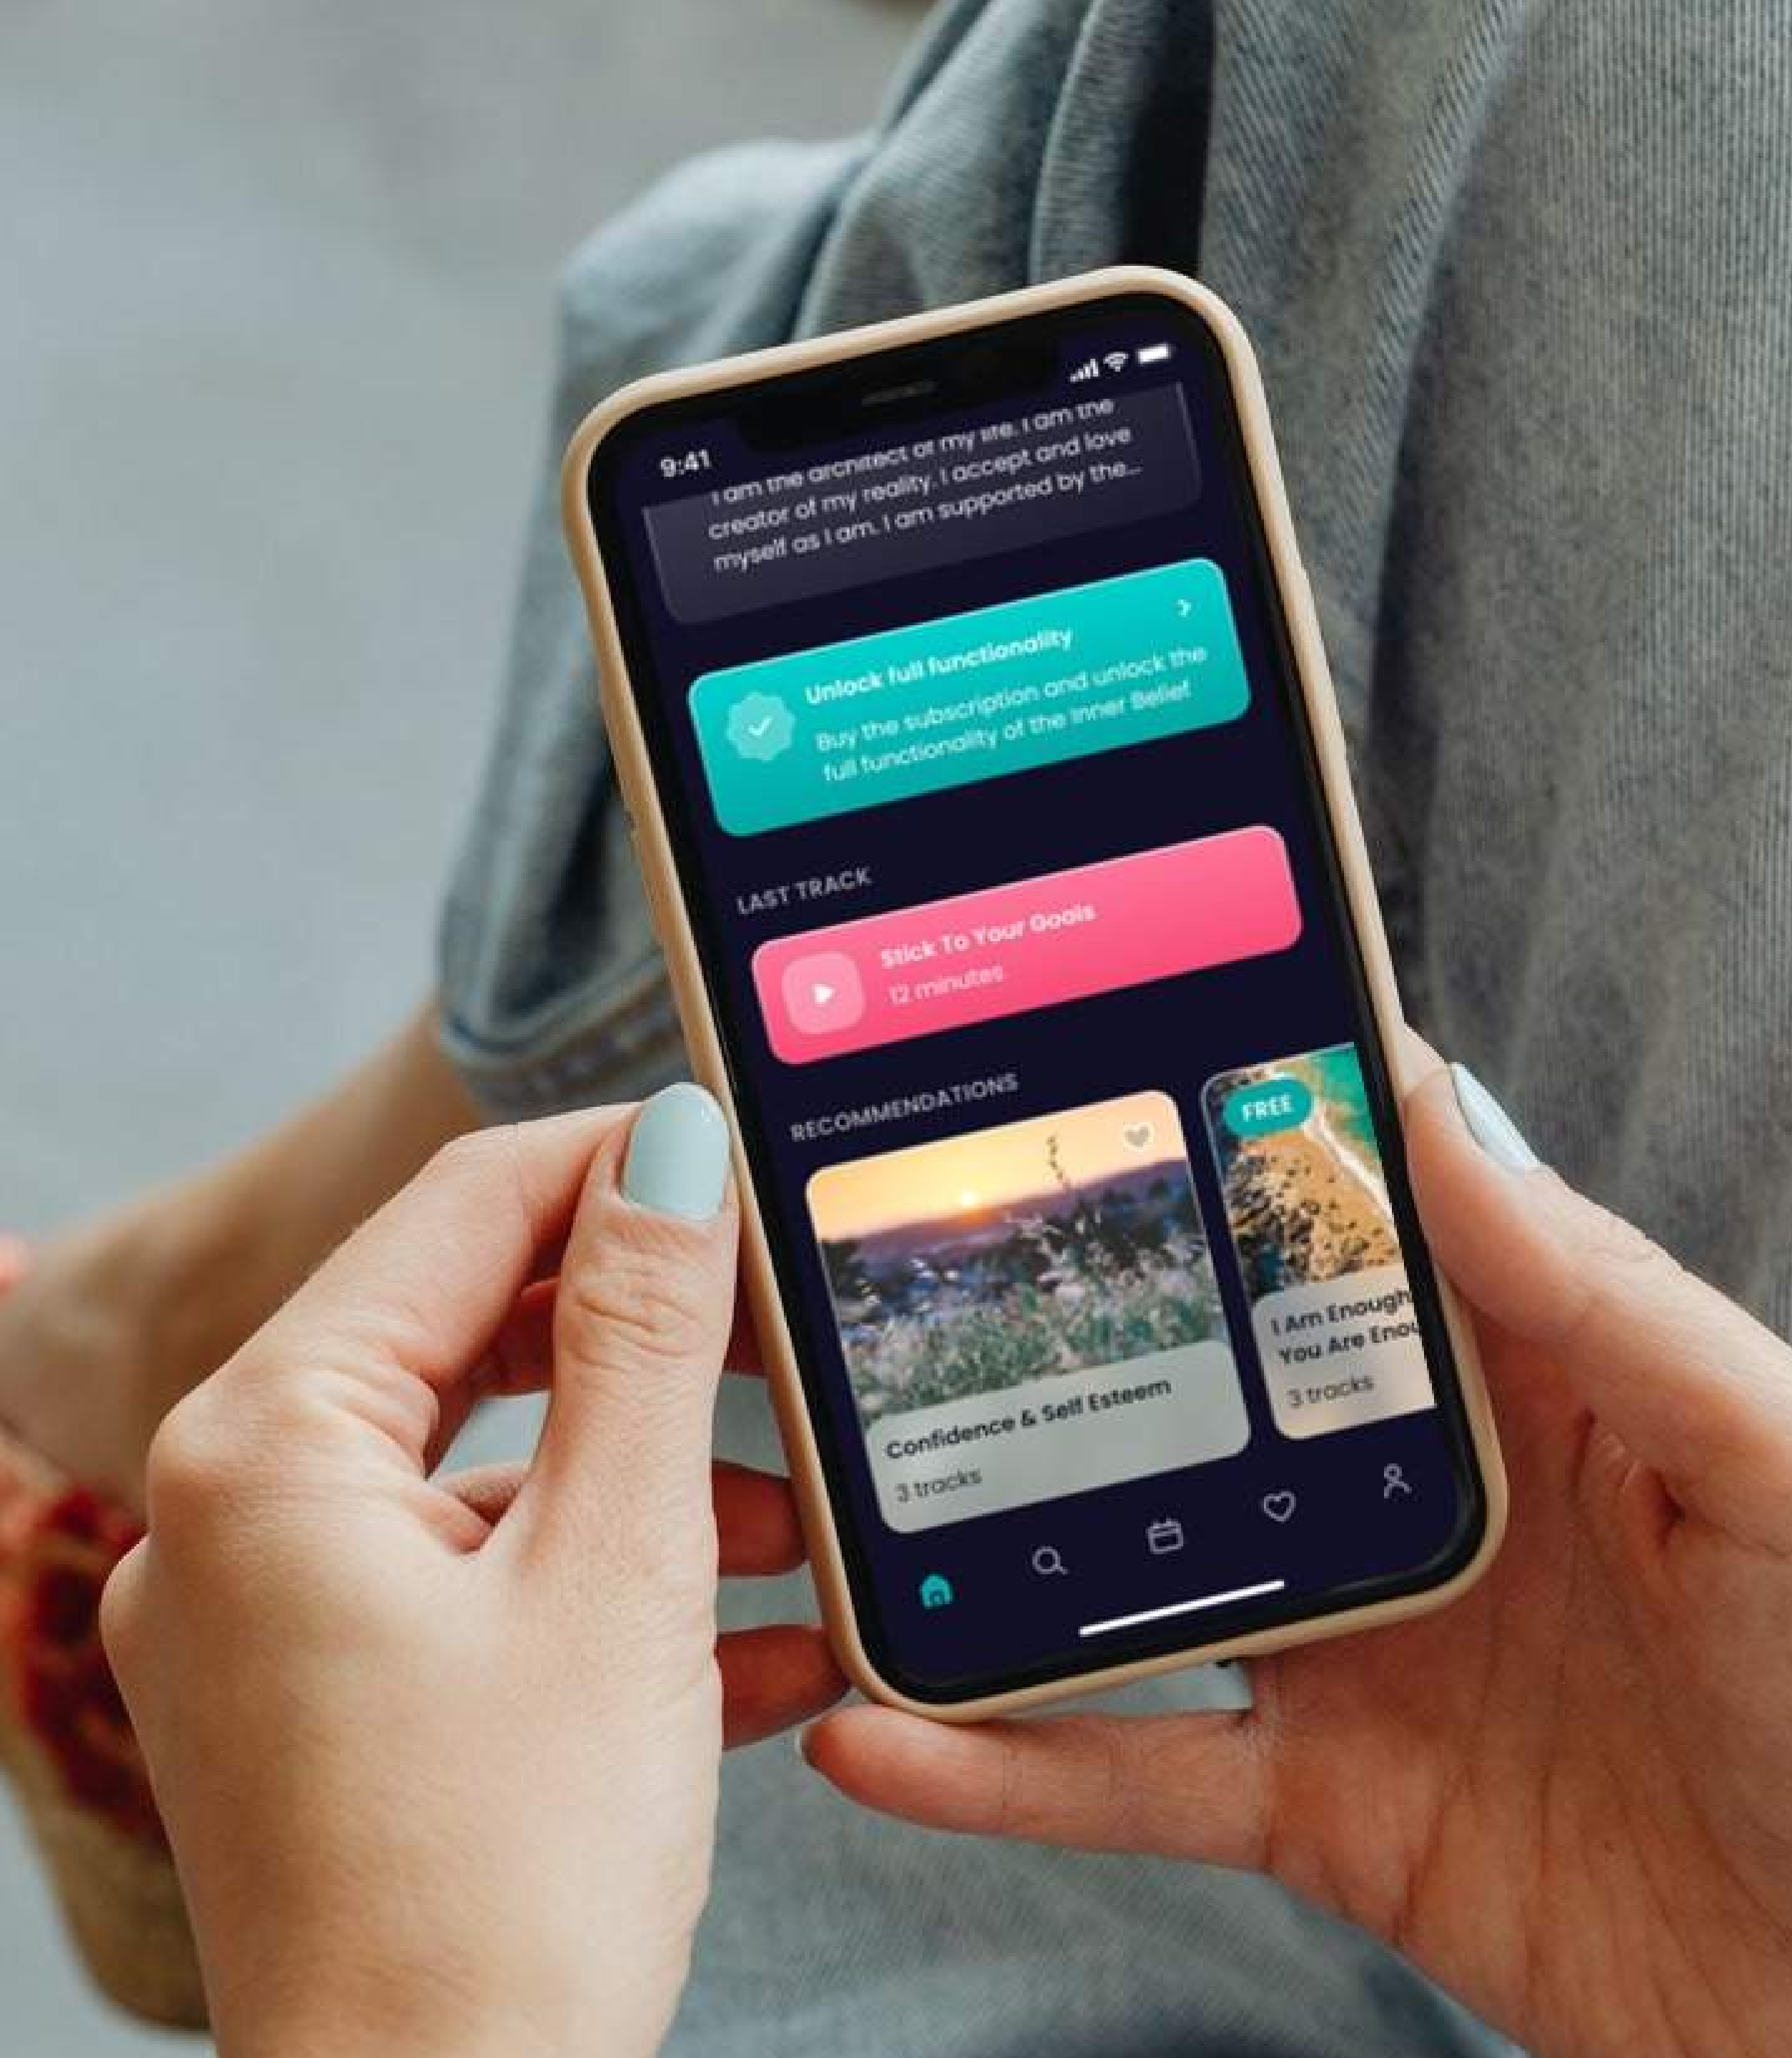

As a famous specialist, Marisa wants to grow her audience and be connected to them regularly. For the first touch, we choose a meditation competitor – deep hypnosis. Therefore, the deep hypnosis must be repeated daily and without disturbing. Also, everybody needs personal suggestions based on their mental needs.

The solution

We have designed an interface with a unique audio player focused on the uninterrupted hypnosis session. The user journey began from the market, with individual suggested tracks, to the daily scheduled session. We help to build a habit but not only listen to Marisa's tracks.

The client

Yangol is a technology company creating outstanding employee journeys. Yangol's goals are to improve the pre- and onboarding experience for candidates, and save costs by reducing employee turnover rate. Automate your processes, prevent burnouts & early resignations, structure your employee journey & stay on top of the game!

The problem

We need to simplify this pre- and onboarding experience for employees and make it clearer and remove all "bottlenecks" from their Journeys. On the other hand, we want to automate HR's process and give them a flexible tool for communication with newbies.

The solution

Conducting UX Research and understanding the main domain issues give us a chance to create an outstanding Journey for both roles. HR could control the process from the beginning and keep it under the radar. All content easily customizable, and updated in few clicks. Thanks for it employees will be informed on time and have all related details to hand.

APRICOT

UX Audit and redesign for European insurance broker

Apricot

Apricot Insurance – an online focused insurance broker specialising in motor, home, van, landlord and business insurance.

Headquarters

Belfast, United Kingdom

Industry

Startup, SaaS, HRM system

Services we provided

- UX Audit
- UX Research
- UX design
- UI design

The client

Apricot exists in the insurance market since 2011, in 2020 the company turned to us to conduct an Audit of the Checkout process and create a redesign. The main task of the redesign was to increase sales of related products when applying for car insurance and increase the average bill.

The problem

Apricot is a company that has been in the insurance market for a while and is well known to customers. The main objective of the research was to understand the typical Customer Journey and find "bottlenecks." The main idea of the redesign is to focus on the additional services and showing without using dark design patterns. This way, we stayed honest and increased the upsells.

The solution

Based on the UX audit and expert review we identified the main problems of the existing product. The next step was creating a list of hypotheses: how to improve the flow, how we can measure changes, and what solutions could be implemented.

PROBLEM STATEMENT

Provide A Progress Indicator: Stepper

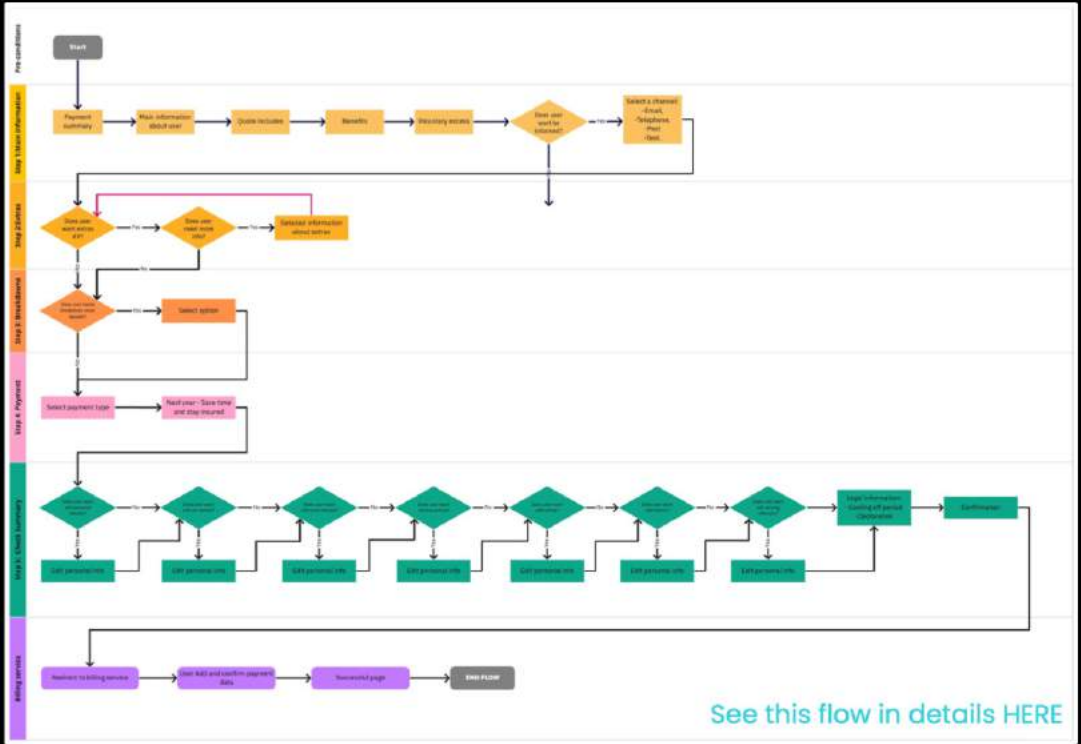

Our journey is a multi-step process. This means the customer has to go through several pages before the order is complete. Visibility of system status is one of the Basic Heuristics of J. Nielsen. The stepper will show the user the progress of the journey and the user will have visibility of control.

Knowing where you are in the topography of the site or product helps the user have a sense of control, which is important from a usability perspective. This could increase conversion rate and users' loyalty.

Provide A Progress Indicator: Stepper | Statement

AXICUBE

What we suggest

WHAT COULD BE DONE

1. Divide process into 5 + 1 step

2. Make flow consistent with the past user experience: show summary before redirecting to the payment. Because the user could forgot list of extras between payment process and visiting billing service. And can interrupt the flow.

3. Give the user possibility easy navigate between steps: save field data and progress.

4. Give the user go to the next step ONLY if all required data is field. This way we prevent users error and save their time and increase conversion.

1 Conversion rate

How many users go to the billing service

2 Failure rate

How many users drop off the process

3 Time spending

7

Highlight Main Action | Statement

Example of usage

Basic plan located on the end and without any visual emphasis. However, only primary plan has pink background to attract users attention more than other options.

Predictable Order | Hypotheses

AXICUBE

Predictable Order

As mention before, the System needs to be consistent (Consistency and standards). So all information about the same point needs to be shown one after another. "Next Year - Save time and Stay Insured" appeals to the payment. So user will decide about it when he/she will choose or confirm payment type.

Increasing Upsell of Extras | Hypotheses

AXICUBE

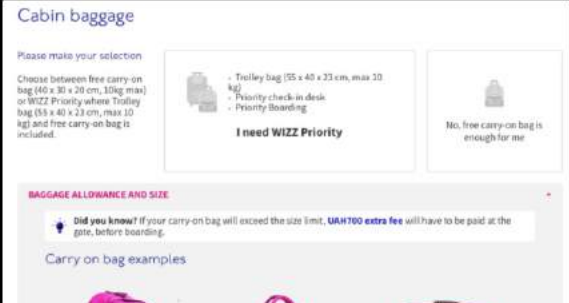

Extras

If you legally need collect answer from your user (yes or no):

1. Highlight preferable action

2. Make all necessary information visible all the time.

3. Give the user possibility read more details without leaving the page

Highlight Main Action | Statement

Highlight Main Action

Don't let unnecessary elements distract users from the main action. (Aesthetic and minimalist design.) This principle is important for the user experience.

The client

The idea came from the three founders of the product. The bottom line is that it should be a service that will help keep management records and centrally deal with all financial transactions, taxes, and employee management within one program. So you always hold your finger on the pulse.

The problem

There were both local and international competitors on the market. Therefore, it was necessary to offer unique functionality that would distinguish us from the others. It was crucial to create a product that would provide an opportunity to work at once for various specialists: the sales department, financiers and accountant, and managers. It was required to link the needs of 3 main user groups to see the overall financial picture.

The solution

We did extensive market research and then came up with an excellent solution: everyone is guaranteed to get a dashboard where they can view international shipments and flexible reports for export products and departments.

The Result

After a year of work on design and development, a flexible design system was created, and the product was launched. It allows our client to plan business budgets, track critical KPIs both at the departmental and employee levels, and keep inventory records and sales. Today, we are constantly improving this product, completing new modules (for example, retail one), and improving the product based on user feedback and analytics.

"I am glad to cooperate with Valentyn. It is rare to find a niche professional who is able to think deeper and see more even when they have to look beyond their experience. I definitely recommend."
